Movement of Federal Troops Slowed Up, Battle Impending at Saltillo

By International News Service

Gen Plutarco Elias Calles commanding the federal army of the central [illegible] in Mexico is massing artillery and airplanes for an attack against the rebels entrenched in the hills on the Durango-Coahuila border

Rebel forces in that region have taken up powerful positions [illegible] the hill near Torreon from which it would be almost impossible to drive them with infantry

Another battle [illegible] believed [illegible] at Saltillo Gen Juan Esco[illegible] one of the chief rebel leaders in the north who was previously reported at Torreon is now said to be [illegible] Saltillo Federal airmen who flew over Saltillo yesterday reported the rebels [illegible] at work throwing up earthworks and barricades This rebel force stands between Monterey [illegible] the Torreon district preventing [illegible] of the armies of General Calles and Gen Andreu Almazan

Destroy Railway Tracks

The movement of the federals is slow When the rebels fell back they destroyed large sections of railway tracks and bridges [illegible] of Monterey making federal progress difficult

A battle is threatened in the region of Mazatlan which is held by federal [illegible]

The rebels claim that 7 000 men [illegible] upon the city to give battle [illegible] federal commander

The rebellion in southern Mexico appears to have been crushed completely with the capture or surrender of the chief rebel leader

FORDS AND G. M. C. BATTLE FOR MARKET

Stock of German Company Bought by Corporation Show Planned

BERLIN March 12—A battle has broken out in Germany between the Fords and the General Motors according to indications today

Newspapers report that General Motors signed a contract with the Opel Works paying 10 000 000 marks for 80 per cent of the Opel stock

It was said that the company would concentrate upon the production of a car selling at 1 800 marks

The Opel firm was given the right the newspapers said to repurchase the stock after eight years at a price [illegible] per cent higher than the present sale price

A report was current today that Henry Ford is coming to Europe [illegible] to study the motor car market

The Fords are planning a special automobile show in Berlin in the largest exhibition hall in the city

The German Ford Co is preparing to raise its capital [illegible] from [illegible] to 12 000 000 marks to enlarge production

The German government is one of the best customers for Ford tractors

COUNTY FACES LOSS UNDER LAW CHANGE

Local Cost of Proposed New Bill of Sale Plan $2,000 Annually

Provisions in a measure on which the state legislature is scheduled to take action this week provide for the care of automobile bills of sale in the office of secretary of state taking this work from the offices of the county clerks of court

In the event that the bill becomes a law Marion county will lose approximately $2,000 annually according to Clerk of Courts Harry L [illegible] whose office has cared for this work for several years There are approximately 10 000 bills of sale on file in his office at the present time this department showing a monthly income of about $200 This would be total loss as no extra help is hired in the county office to handle this work which is done by the force in addition to its regular work

Not only would the change result in a revenue loss to the county but would also prevent car owners from securing their bills of sale as promptly as they [illegible] Instances have been cited [illegible] of Michigan where the central office is maintained where car owners [illegible] to wait for weeks for their car ownership to be definitely established Some of the county officials have taken action to protest the measure and although Clerk Koons has voiced no official protest he points to the annual loss this would mean and the added inconvenience to the car owners

An explosion in a gas filled house at [illegible] Silver st late yesterday [illegible] two [illegible] in the City hospital with serious burns about the face and hands The victims John Willis and James Willis nine were reported to be in a serious condition by hospital authorities today

The explosion according to Fire Chief [illegible] McFarland occurred when Walter Willis father of the boy lighted a match in a gas filled room on the upper floor of the house Both victims of the explosion were badly burned about the face and hands A small quantity of bed clothing was burned but otherwise the damage was light according to the fire chief

Find Open Gas Pipe

The explosion occurred in the house into which Walter Willis was preparing to move with his family John Willis was a boarder at the home When the house was inspected an open gas pipe was found in an upstairs bedroom according to Chief McFarland Members of the family immediately went to the basement and shut off the gas at the meter The windows in the bedroom were opened to allow the accumulated gas to escape

When the room was thought to have been cleared of gas Walter Willis struck a match A heavy explosion followed as the escaping gas had filled the first floor as well as the upper Windows were blown from rooms in the lower floor of the house

Clothing of the two victims was ignited by the flame that followed the explosion Wallpaper was badly scorched

Fire departments No [illegible] and [illegible] were called after the explosion occurred

BIND MANAGER, RUN YOUNGSTOWN STORE

School Students Conduct 'Sale and Escape with Money

YOUNGSTOWN March 12—Patrons of an A & P store here today had a taste of supersalesmanship

Customers bought cigarettes at bargain prices from a couple of dapper clerks School children were offered and accepted the bargain of a pound of candy for the price of a couple of gum drops One youngster walked out with a whole bunch of bananas after he had laid down five cents

Somebody figured there must be a catch

Investigation showed the manager and clerk were bound and gagged in a rear room while the bandit clerks were taking in more than $90 from early morning customers

The bandits escaped by commandeering an automobile after jumping through a window of a trolley car which they had boarded after the first alarm was given by a customer

DIRECT TAX LEVY FOR BUILDING SEEN

Senate Committee Recommends Passage of Combined Morgan-Rohe Bill

COLUMBUS March 12—A direct levy of two tenths of a mill on all property in the state for two years to provide funds for the erection of a new state office building was the prospect that faced Ohio property owners today

This follows action of the senate committee on state buildings last night in recommending a combined Morgan-Rohe bill be sent to the upper house of the legislature for passage

Provision for the tax levy was one of the several amendments agreed to by Rep Gilbert Morgan Senator [illegible] Rohe of Tiffin leaders of both houses and Gov Myers Y Cooper

Will Produce $5 000 000

The tax levy will be made during 19[illegible] and 1930 will produce about $5 000 000 for the building

By combining the Morgan and Rohe bills each of which provided for an office building but which differed in several minor points the senate committee has conciliated the differences of both houses

An early vote on the bill is expected in the senate It will then be sent to the house for concurrence in the amendments and then to Governor Cooper

$128,000 TAKEN BY WISCONSIN BANDITS

Receipts of Week-End at Madison Included Cash and Securities

MADISON, Wis., March 12—More than $128,000 in negotiable securities and cash was obtained by two bandits here today who held up a messenger for the secretary of state's office.

The bandits shoved Russel Pfeifer, assistant cashier, and a guard into a vestibule and snatched the satchel containing the money and escaped in an automobile having a Missouri license.

The assistant cashier and messenger had just left the capitol building with the securities and money, which represented the receipts of the week-end, and were about to get into their automobile to drive to a bank, when the bandits appeared.

WITH STAR STAFF

To Be, or Not—

STOCKINGS of Marion [illegible] [illegible] been bedizened with [illegible] knee [illegible] fine [illegible] less during the coming summer but if so it will not be through any recommendation on the part of the National Shoe Retailers association according to a letter received at this newspaper office.

In a recent issue of The Star appeared an article forecasting that the stockingless fad will be popular in Marion and other cities throughout the country. This was based primarily on a report said to have come from a convention of the Shoe Dealers association and secondarily upon a comment made by a prominent local shoe dealer.

A two-page letter from an executive official of the national association denies responsibility for the forecast and says furthermore that the vast majority of American women will continue to wear stockings as they should.

In the meantime the only thing to do is to await arrival of the warm weather season for visible and indisputable evidence one way or another. It is safe to predict at any rate that women and girls will do as they please regardless of present forecasts.

History Recalled

CONGRESSIONAL history in the eighth Ohio district was brought to the forefront in rather unusual fashion in Washington last week when the Washington Star, a newspaper which ordinarily makes few mistakes, published what was presumed to be a photograph of Grant E. Mouser Jr. of Marion, the district's new legislator.

The Star was correct in the name Grant E. Mouser, but the picture happened to be that of the Grant E. Mouser who served as congressman from this locality about 20 years ago. This was the father of the present congressman and the photograph had probably been in the Washington newspaper's files through all of the intervening years.

The Mouser photograph appeared with a group of others showing the faces of new members of the present congress and appeared in the inauguration day issue of the Washington paper.

The circumstance of father and son of the same name serving as members of congress from the same district is said to have few if any parallels in Ohio history. Resurrection of the father's old-time picture as a supposed likeness of the son adds another unusual feature to the story.

Shoes, Old and New

AN interesting fact was brought out during the informal talk of a reporter and shoe repairer recently.

Sixty per cent of the shoes bought in Marion county never see a repair shop according to a survey made here several years ago by the men interested in getting data of this type.

The reason dealers and repairers believe is that people buy cheap shoes from $1.95 to $4.50 with the idea in mind at the time of the purchase that when the shoes are worn out they can be discarded.

If the people only knew [illegible] shoes valued at around $5 can be repaired for another period of service the repairer to whom the reporter was talking said.

There isn't so much that can be told of people by the shoes they bring to a repair shop, one of Marion's largest dispensers of half soles, heels and heel plates said yesterday. This was all brought up by a recent statement from a woman in Ohio that by studying, while you wait, customers she can usually give the right shoes to their owners without consulting their identifying tickets.

Perhaps this might be true the local repairman said if there is a small clientele and the customers more or less personal acquaintances, but where there are between 150 and 200 pairs of shoes repaired daily it won't work.

Shoes are banged up rather badly in the workaday world and all of them are in need of all over repairs when they enter a work shop. No particular markings indicate just what position a customer holds in life or [illegible] [illegible] except that with the girl who works every day and must necessarily wear comfortable shoes. It is easy to choose the neat ones by the effort they make to keep the shoes pretty [illegible] and polished.

Unless shoes are of some particularly exclusive make or odd pattern, material or color they aren't given more than casual notice as they are ticketed.

Dance pumps can be repaired so that there is no [illegible] of the workmanship, the repairer responded when asked whether [illegible] slippers of such light material and delicate workmanship can be repaired for future rounds in the gay modern dances.

Practical Training in Every Phase of Modern Home Mechanics Given Marion Boys in New School Class

Everything from Sharpening Lawnmowers to Radio Making in Course

Central Junior High Branch Expected To Be Extended to Other Schools

BY BOB ELLIOTT

HOME life in Marion about 10 years from today will be full of hammers, saws, home-made radios, and other useful and interesting articles, if training work in the Home Mechanics department of Central Junior High school bears fruit. This department which is an innovation in the educational program of Marion schools, was organized at the beginning of the second semester of this year at Central with the express purpose of teaching each student the average needs that he will face in his home and the use of the tools with which the average home should be equipped.

Twenty-six students, all members of the freshman class, are taking this course, which starts at 9 o'clock each morning and last until 10 o'clock. The class is held in the basement of the school building in a room equipped with work benches. The class of 26 boys was divided into groups at the start of the semester, each group to work under a foreman appointed by the teacher of the class. This made four groups of five boys each and a fifth group with six students.

Expansion Planned

At the present time only the one class is in operation, although it is hoped, by the start of the school year next fall, to have the subject made a full-year study with classes in session practically all of the time. It is almost a certainty now that the subject will be introduced to Vernon Heights school next year. Also, instead of being only a half year subject as it is now, classes will be held by Central Junior freshmen from the start of the year.

At the time the class was started this year, the teacher says, uniformity and orderliness was lacking. Now each morning as the students enter the classroom, they line up on one side of the room, in military style with the teacher standing opposite them. The roll is called and then the lesson for the day explained.

Thorough Training

After this preliminary procedure the students separate into groups under their respective foremen and the work starts. And what work! Anything from sharpening lawnmowers to building radios or wiring up a house for electricity. But it was necessary to start on simple easy tasks and the first thing the class member did was to learn how to sharpen a lawn mower. In the words of the teacher, too much money is being spent by families for having this simple job done and now mothers, if you want the lawn mowed and sonny objects because the mower is too dull just send him to the garage and tell him to sharpen it. Nearly all of the lawn-mowers belonging to the school were sharpened by this class soon after it was organized and the work was praised by the janitors of the school.

Now that the lawn-mowers had been sharpened the class, like the well-known Alexander, turned to look for new fields to conquer. Among the first things it tackled was plumbing. Included in this course were the following: how to cut and thread a piece of pipe; how to assembe pipe fittings, rewasher a leaking compression faucet, and how to recognize a fuller ball faucet.

Course in Electricity

Wire splicing was the next subject the class undertook. During this division of the course they learned how to do the following things: solder and insulate an electric joint; make an extension cord and lamp; assemble an attachment cord; make an electro-magnet; make a transformer of three volts; learn to read an electric meter, and to make an electric bell. When the class had finished with that part of the work it knew all there was to know about the fundamentals of electricity.

Additional work has already been done by part of the class but others in the class have it remaining on their schedule. Included is the subject of house wiring, in which study they learn how to replace a burned out fuse, install a branch lighting circuit and to wire up two three-way switches. In conduit wiring the class studies knob and tube insulation, how to install all kinds of electric switches, bell wiring, dry cells, how to wire up a bell and buzzer, to make an open door bell. In the study of soldering an open gas range will be installed by the boys themselves.

After all of this practical house work is accomplished a general work period will commence. In this period the boys will learn how to make a joint in a rough leather belt, to tie some common knots, replace broken window glass, how to cut glass, how to read all kinds of meters.

The man responsible for all of this valuable, practical training is Oscar C. Lee, who started teaching in public schools here just last year. In addition to his Home Mechanics class at Central he teaches mechanical drawing at Vernon Heights. He is enthused over the class at Central and states that if the boys finish up the work he has outlined for them so far they will have accomplished enough to know how to operate any household in all of its details.

GOING TO BUCYRUS

Local Railway Men's Lodge Plans Visit to Neighbor Organization

Arrangements for attending a meeting of the Bucyrus lodge in the near future were completed at a meeting of Erie lodge No. 1005, Railway Clerks, held recently in Central Labor Union hall. A good size delegation from the local lodge is expected to attend the Bucyrus meeting.

One candidate was given the obligation at the meeting and three applications for membership received. C. S. Lawhorn, chairman of the membership committee reported fine progress in membership increase of the local lodge. It was also announced that the lodge would give an open euchre party on March 20.

All members were urged to attend the smoker that will be held Wednesday night, March 13 in Central Labor Union hall. Floyd Crosgrave, who is conducting the educational forum, will be in Marion at that time.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

District President Addresses Meeker P. T. A. Group

MEEKER, March 12.—An address on "Thrift" by Mrs. W. J. Davis, of Radnor, who is the Central District President of the P. T. A., featured a program presented by the Meeker Parent Teachers association Thursday night. Training for thrift in health and time as well as money was emphasized as essential in the education of the child.

The program opened with the group joining in several P. T. A. songs under the direction of K. I. Lea. The Rev. M. J. Platts gave the invocation. A vocal duet by Mrs. H. E. Wiley and daughter, Virginia, accompanied by Mrs. Merle Kennedy and a piano solo by Mrs. Rose Woodbury were presented. A paper was read by Mrs. J. H. Deal on "The U. S. Mint in Operation."

Russell Cayton, a pupil in the eighth grade, gave a study demonstration, and a trio, composed of Henry Coon, Charles Coon and Marion Barnthouse presented a black face minstrel act.

Following the address a quartet composed of Mrs. Pearl Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kennedy and J. W. Smith contributed a number. During the social hour following refreshments were served.

The program committee was Mrs. Claude Cates, Mrs. Merle Kennedy and K. I. Lea. Mrs. H. E. Wiley, president, was chairman of the meeting.

FILE SUITS

Plaintiff Asks Foreclosure of Mortgage in Union County Court

MARYSVILLE, March 12—Olen Willauer has brought suit in the Union county common pleas court against Thomas F. [illegible] and Thomas F. Corwin, Edwin H. January and The Virginia Joint Stock Land company of Charleston, W. Va., for foreclosure of mortgage and the sum of $1,111.75. Mr. Willauer claims the money is due on a note for $175.00 issued July 1, 1925, by Thomas F. and Elsie Corwin to Edwin H. January, later sold to the plaintiff, Mr. Willauer. The note was secured by a mortgage on a 101.50 acre tract of land in York township which was since that time transferred to Thomas F. Corwin.

The Moores & Ross company, Columbus, has filed suit against O. N. Snyder for the sum of $3,080 with interest which the company petitions is due on an account for ice cream.

A. C. Vollrath and H. F. Huffman, transacting business under the firm name of H. F. Huffman & company, have brought suit for $60 on a promissory note given them by W. F. Yarrington Jr. They allege that Yarrington has abused and mistreated the Wescott Sport Touring Automobile which he mortgaged as security for the note and ask that the court appoint a receiver to take charge of the vehicle, that it be sold and the proceeds be used to pay a portion of the note.

The Farmers & Merchants Bank company, Milford Center, has filed suit in the common pleas court against Daniel F. Ryan and others for foreclosure of mortgage for the purpose of recovering $2,801 with interest at six and one half per cent from Sept. 9, 1928, and costs of the suit. The amount is secured by mortgage on a 170 tract of land in Union township.

HEARS CASES

Crawford County Judge Presides for Hearings; Postpone Case

"My Skin Nearly Drove Me Mad"

"I had pimples and blackheads so badly, and used to squeeze them so much that my face looked red and raw. On the advice of a nurse friend I got a jar of Rowles Mentho Sulphur and used it faithfully for ten days. In 3 days' time there was a big difference in my skin and today it is as soft and clear as my 10-year old sister's."

The sulphur in Rowles Mentho Sulphur clears the skin while the Menthol heals the sore, broken tissue. That's the twofold action you want for skin troubles. Try Rowles Mentho Sulphur not only for pimples and blackheads, but for dry, scaly skin, rash, and itching eczema. IT WORKS. All druggists sell it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.—Adv.

Mrs. Coolidge and the Simple Life

It is safe to say that no First Lady of the Land ever made a better impression on the people of the land as a whole than Mrs Grace Coolidge. It is a question if any ever made so good. Always pleasant, gracious charming—she proved a splendid foil to her distinguished husband who studied silence as an art and made of it a weapon during their stay of almost six years in the White House

We can not recall of Mrs Coolidge ever having talked for publication during her eight years residence in Washington and she has done precious little since the 4th of the present month but she has let drop certain little hints—which should heighten the high admiration and esteem in which she is held by all. She has let it be known what all of us long ago should have realized that life in the White House while far more spectacular lacks much of the appeal of life in a private home where a wife may be her natural self and not the player of an official part, that the White House life with its many restrictions erected by precedent has not the charm of freedom which may be enjoyed by the housewife in civil life among friends and neighbors. And she has let drop a hint or two that the simpler life has greater appeal to her because she loves the simpler things of life as she could never love its artificialities and she can't understand why there is so great an inclination on every side to overlook the beauties of the simpler life for the artificial life so many seek and in the seeking, spend more than they can afford

Coming from some quarters such views would not carry weight but coming from one who has held the place Mrs Coolidge has such views even though they may be conveyed only by occasional hints should make an impression on a people who for years have been engaged in an orgy of extravagant expenditure

Honestly, as much as we admired Mrs Coolidge as the wife of the president we admire her still more as the wife of Calvin Coolidge, private citizen.

Limiting the Supreme Court.

Should the Ohio house of representatives follow the upper house of the general assembly in approving a resolution to that end an amendment to the state constitution providing that a law passed by the general assembly may be declared unconstitutional by a majority of the supreme court will be submitted to the voters of the state next fall. Under the basic law of the state as it now reads a law enacted by the general assembly can not be declared unconstitutional by less than the votes of six judges of the state's highest judicial tribunal

There are said to be two sides to any question and beyond all doubt there are to this. Which is the preferable we are frank to confess we are not prepared to say at this time. Laws should not be changed to meet any passing whim. At the same time we can see that a condition could easily obtain which might cause the retention of many poor and unfair laws. In any event it is hard to understand why any special sanctity should attach to a law enacted by the Ohio general assembly in the light of the fact that we have had some notoriously poor legislative bodies and quite a number manifestly subject to strongly organized lobbies. There was never better illustration of this than offered by the course of our state law making body at its last preceding session

But our comment is not so much directed at the worthiness or unworthiness of the proposal as at some of the proffered arguments against the proposal to amend the constitution notable among which is the citation that the law was overwhelmingly supported by the constitutional convention of 1912 the vote being seventy eight for and twenty eight against

Possibly in the history of the entire nation there never was a constitutional convention the like of that which last tinkered with the basic law of Ohio. Certainly there never was in the history of the state. Perhaps there never was a time in the history of Ohio when so many alleged reforms and isms and panaceas for this that and the other thing were floating around in the atmosphere. It was the exceptional citizen who didn't have a pet one of his own. And those familiar with the make up of the convention body will recall that it was one of the greatest aggregations of so called reformers agitators and radicals ever assembled under one roof. As one very prominent member of it remarked it was the ———— body of anarchists with which he had ever been associated. He may have been a little strong in his expression but his description was accepted as fairly good by those who realized that it was swayed very largely by a Cincinnati clergyman who even in this day and age would be considered decidedly radical in his views

The provision that the votes of six judges are necessary to declare an act of the general assembly unconstitutional may be a good one but the fact that it carried in the constitutional convention by a three to one vote comes a long way from proving it. Recalling the convention as we do we would take the support the provision received in it as a fairly good reason for questioning its worth

The coast guard has been instructed that regular passenger liners plying between Nor*folk and Baltimore are not to be stopped and* searched. The fact that such an order is necessary might be taken to indicate that the search and seizure business has been carried to the extreme

A federal agricultural statistician estimates that Iowa yet has 209 115 000 bushels of corn on hand and if the other states of the corn belt are similarly fortified our good law abiding citizens can not reasonably fear a corn sugar shortage which will seriously retard the production of the poison stuff once referred to as liquid delight

We felt that something was wrong with the original story of the searching at New York of the passengers on the Shawnee from Miami when it was stated that but 200 bottles of liquor were found on 400 passengers. The passenger tally was right but the liquid tally was decidedly short the true figures being 1 000 bottles

How good it is to know that saving and excepting Mrs Hoover Mrs Gann the sister of the vice president is to outrank at social functions all the women of Washington! Now that the awful suspense is over the country may proceed along its customary channels of endeavor!

Health and Wealth.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND M.D.

Colds colds colds. Everybody has or just has had or is about to have a cold

To my desk come great numbers of letters. Many of these ask about colds and how to avoid them. It is a subject of importance to every family to every individual

The government spends lots of money to control the corn borer and to exterminate animal and vegetable pests. I don't begrudge such appropriations. But when it comes to human diseases particularly so common a disease as the cold it is extremely hard to get money

Will you explain to me why men will spend endless sums of money to protect property but are so indifferent to disease

To take a chance is almost as natural as breathing. But it is more difficult to get a man to take a chance on his property than it is on his health

I am told that the owner of pre-war liquor guards it as carefully as his wife guards her diamonds. He takes no chances on losing it. The business man who suddenly realizes he forgot to lock his safe will walk back two miles to lock it. He will take no [illegible] robbery

But the poor body! Everybody takes a chance on what may happen to it

As I view it you have no moral right to hazard your health. It is wrong to take chances on your physical welfare

No one lives to himself alone. There are dependent members of the family who will suffer if the breadwinner or housekeeper becomes ill

If you are a wage earner you are not honest with your employer if you lack physical ability to do your work thoroughly. You are cheating if you make a pretense going through the forms of work without accomplishing a full day's work

Wet feet cold hands and shivering body loss of sleep abuse of the digestive organs lack of fresh air and sunlight and excessive exposure to infection—these are important factors in the production of colds. It is probable the list is not complete but it embraces many things that are disregarded by too many persons who are willing to take a chance on having a cold

The skin has several functions. One is to act as a heat regulator. It is a sort of thermostat acting through the nerves and blood vessels to control the circulation of the body

If the feet are wet and the hands cold or if the whole body is shivering with cold the blood vessels of the skin are contracted. The surface of the body is white and cold. The blood is driven into the interior of the body. The nasal tissues the throat and lungs are congested taking up the extra blood which belongs in the skin and outer tissues. This leads to trouble

When I was a boy they talked about hardening the skin. There was sense in that idea. By accustoming the skin to resist low temperatures it does not suffer unless unduly exposed to the weather

If you live all the time in an overheated atmosphere you become like a hothouse plant. Such a plant wilts and dies if placed in the cold. If you are accustomed to high inside temperature you are chilled at the slightest exposure

I am sorry time and space do not permit a little more discussion of this subject but if what I have said sets you to thinking I am sure you won't have so many colds

THE CHAPMAN FLEET

Early in April the Leviathan will be delivered to a private owner under the contract by which the shipping board disposes of its fleet. Soon thereafter the ten smaller vessels which were sold at auction will become the property of Paul W Chapman of Chicago and New York. In addition the Chapman interests have agreed to build two new leviathans and they plan to undertake a ten year program for the construction of five other ships

Thus the United States will be represented in the marine world on a competitive scale. Foreign ship owners who now carry ninety per cent of the American passengers are concerned and they have reason to be. They have the advantage of experience reputation and volume of equipment but their American rival has the advantage of initiating an old enterprise on new standards

The new ships which Mr Chapman puts into service should be far superior to the type of vessel which his foreign competitors will be compelled to operate for many years. The boats of today will be antiquated in comparison with the ships which Mr Chapman has the opportunity to build but the established concerns can not afford to junk their ships to keep the new pace. For instance shipbuilders are replacing their riveting equipment for welding construction. The internal combustion engine promises to revolutionize sea traffic. New processes of fireproof construction will be used. Experiments are producing greater depth without loss in speed. And new instruments to bring greater comfort speed and safety are transforming nautical transportation. Ship personnel will be decreased and economy obtained. With the construction and the efficiency in operation which they will bring the American marine may again make history on the sea.—Chicago Tribune

GENERAL LORD REMAINS

In retaining Brigadier General Herbert M Lord as director of the bureau of the budget President Hoover provides himself at the outset of his administration with a man who knows his work thoroughly who has been unusually successful in a post that calls for perseverance tact and courage in a high degree and who has developed through out the government service an extraordinary amount of enthusiasm over the most tiresome and [illegible] undertaking in the world—that of saving money

General Dawes picturesquely waving a broom stick in the awed faces of the administrative officials of the government fitted well into the picture as the first director of the experimental bureau of the budget. But General Lord has been a worthy successor. He has been no less enthusiastic over his task. But if General Dawes adopted the policy of beating brows General Lord may be said to have substituted one of soothing them. No man who returns an itemized list of proposed expenditure and directs the committee to cut here and trim there can be expected to receive many bouquets or pretty posies for his pains. But General Lord's administration has been marked by the absence of bad feeling and friction

His organization of the Woodpeckers clubs open to members who save a few pennies for the government and the Casualty club open to those who fail to fill vacancies in personnel may have invited ridicule and derisive laughter. But General Lord has closed his ears to such criticism for he knows that it is possible to save money for the government only so long as it is possible to enlist the aid of every federal employe and that this aid is best enlisted through dramatization of the dull and unattractive subject with which he deals. At any rate his best reply to those who smile at his Woodpeckers club is to point out that the club is functioning. In other words it works and that is what he wanted [illegible].—Washington Star

Uptown [illegible] bring a snap and [illegible] people along Broadway. Fifth and Park avenue [illegible] ments there is mostly brooding [illegible] ever conscious of the bread lines and those other visible tokens of the misery that poverty brings

The usual sullenness of the Bowery is enhanced by the over-shadowing elevated structure. The sun, moon and stars are almost strangers. In the fogged light of all night missions blurry figures kneel half heartedly in prayer. Then comes the chief lure—bread and hot coffee

In the lodging houses are drooping figures exhausted from heavy labor and those sleeping off the befogging effects of too much "Bowery smoke"—a lethal mixture at ten cents a shot. In the barber colleges customers stand in line waiting free applications of hot towels to keep warm

All dull edges of squalor are pronounced in winter. The most brilliantly lighted windows are those of pawn shops revealing their tinkle jumble. The busiest spots are the cellar rent-a-shops where one may pawn old garments for still older garments and acquire a few extra pennies

A paradox in the lower squalor is the Bowery Savings bank—one of the richest institutions in the world and patronized chiefly by residents of the lower East Side. Which proves the Bowery is not all poverty. It merely shows a ragged sleeve to the world

In a number of ways the narrow twisted streets of Chinatown are the most interesting in the city. The Chinese somehow manage to express a pronounced security above their sordid surroundings. There are no Chinese mendicants and it is said eighty per cent of them have bank accounts and most of the older Chinese support wives and relatives in their native land which costs about a dime a day. Marry in China and see the world

A chop suey parlor in Chinatown insists upon diners being shown through their kitchen before the meal is served. It is as spotless as a newly scrubbed ping table top. The cook and helpers are in immaculate white uniforms and the display does add zest to the food. Yet I could never regard chop suey with anything but suspicion

There seems to be no respect for gray hairs any more. Jack Frost, Artist.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

I quote the following to give pleasure to [illegible] aspects of nature in which she seems to have been playing the artist and handling her material with a human [illegible] in her big mind

I am enclosing you a sketch to show one of the most wonderful of Dame Nature's window paintings that I have ever seen. Sitting in our dining room gazing at a window facing south that was nearly covered with frost I saw this picture. A foreground of the prettiest fern leaves I have ever seen. Back of them a forest of trees seemingly placed all fairly outlined as if made by an artist. Beyond these two mountain peaks looking [illegible] of a range and above them fleecy clouds covering almost the whole of the upper part of the glass. But a space of six or eight square inches was uncovered forming the only touch of color in the picture for through this space the blue of the sky was beautifully visible. My family and I watched the picture with admiration until the heat of the room dissolved it. It was a marvellous piece of Jack Frost's handiwork.—Thomas Nally Hanna Indiana January 24

Of all the natural phenomena which suggest or provoke imitation I think the frostwork on window panes should have first rank. Better than in the clouds or in the fireplace there one may see with hardly an effort of the imagination the most realistic resemblances to animate and inanimate things set forth with the perfection of a cameo or ivory miniature and borrowing sparkling splendor from the exquisite material of the frost. I myself have occasionally seen works of Jack Frost which might vie in beauty with that described by Mr Nally. Landscapes that bore the most complete resemblance to winter woods with the trees bending under loads of snow and ice or snowy wildernesses of stunted trees like some of those that grow in the ravines on the slopes of Mt Washington intersected with a smooth winding frost-flowered path down which one almost expects to see a scared hare making jingling leaps toward safety

The fact that a few critical lines and shades are sufficient to suggest to the mind behind the eye a whole likeness displayed in the roundness of reality is the basis of all picture drawing. It may be that man discovered it first in clouds or embers or frost. In nature taught him by examples how to create mental perspective which when the imagination is the judge is just as good as the real perspective of three dimensional space. Perhaps it is only an extension of this that enables ultra Einsteinians to see things in a fourth dimension. But then can they prove that those things are any more real than the apparent roundness of a picture drawn with cunning shades and deceptively sloped lines on a flat sheet? Where are the boundaries of human gullibility anyhow? I use the word in a respectful sense. credulity doesn't exactly hit my meaning. We speak very disrespectfully of the physical senses for deceiving us but they are evidently not the only deceivers within our bailiwick

But deceptions are also among the pleasures of life and those that Jack Frost and his human imitators in art treat us to give us reason every day to think that Dr Pangloss was not a hopeless prevaricator but only a rather reckless exaggerator in pronouncing this to be the best of all possible worlds.—Copyright 1929 International Feature Service Inc

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON

Figures from a typical American city show that more men are now employed than ever before in the history of the city. Wages since the World war have gone up faster than the cost of living though for many that seems hard to believe. There are always exceptions. In certain lines the cost of living has kept ahead of the rise in wages. But taken as a whole the worker receives $2.31 today for every dollar he received before the war. He pays about $1.65 for what used to cost a dollar. Compared with England both wages and the amount of work make us appear to be living in a paradise. But it might be said we have 100 temptations to spend money that the average worker abroad does not have. We live in a motor owning telephone using radio running installment paying country

It is a comfort to find a man who is willing to walk in the middle of the road and to be known for what and who he is. Most of us seek constantly to have people keep opinions of us that are not in accordance with the facts. We may like to be thought rich when we are not rich. Or we like to be thought poor when we are rich. We like to be thought drys when secretly we are wets. We pretend to believe in prohibition when we are of the opinion that prohibition is a national and moral mistake. We boast that we never deal with bootleggers but we are willing to accept what others buy of bootleggers. We make silly distinctions there trying to whitewash our personal behavior. We say ordinarily I don't do this sort of thing but I will this once, when if we were simply honest we would say "Sure we [illegible] do this sort of thing if we think we can get away with it"

So goes life with its foolish self deceptions distinctions and exceptions. The middle of the road to be seen as we are ought to be a comfortable and simple path. Most of us are afraid of it

When a man seeks office whether he wants to be councilman or congressman or state senator or cabinet member what is that he really wants? Of course he tells us it is his overwhelming desire to serve his country and his fellow man. Probably the thing he wants most is a box seat in life where he can be seen by others. He wants to be somebody in a large and distinguished way. Nothing shameful in this ambition though it is rarely confessed

A man loving notice and publicity is sometimes called a "grandstander." It has been said there are two kinds of people—grandstanders and those who are not. [illegible] the [illegible] no [illegible] line of difference. The grandstanders who admit the [illegible] are grandstanders who pretend they are not

Fire Insurance The Bulwark of Trade

THE volume of trade in the United States is estimated at more than 80 billion dollars annually. Probably 90 per cent of this is transacted on credit.

The underlying safeguard of this credit is Stock Fire Insurance, with more than $150,000,000,000 constantly at risk in the protection of burnable property in this country.

This background of $150,000,000,000 of protection against disaster makes commerce on its present gigantic scale possible.

Few indeed are the activities of the home or of business that are not benefited directly or indirectly by the stabilizing effect of Stock Fire Insurance and the security that it affords.

Stock Fire Insurance is the silent partner in every enterprise—the Bulwark of Trade. It has rendered its service at a cost which on the average has constantly declined for more than twenty years.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW FACTORY DROPPED

Lack of Cooperation Blamed by Members of Realty Board Committee

The drive to bring an electrical appliance factory to the city was dropped yesterday when members of the Marion Real Estate board committee in charge of the campaign failed to receive adequate support for the project.

It was stated yesterday by A. W. Granger, chairman of the committee, that more than $1,000 had been subscribed when the time limit expired yesterday noon. Failure of other real estate dealers to cooperate with the committee was blamed by Granger and other members of the committee for defeat of the project.

The committee representing the real estate board started the drive to raise funds when representatives of the factory signified their desire to move their plant here. The factory is now located in Ottawa. The concern manufactures an electrical switch which can be adapted to electric sets, radios, electric pianos and numerous other devices.

The committee of the Real Estate board was composed of Granger, chairman, R. F. Lewis and Stewart G. Clasener.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without once you have used it. Keeps perfectly and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine containing the active agent of creosote in a refined palatable form and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

"The VANGUARD"

By Arnold Bennett

"... [illegible]," sighed Lord Furlle...

"... went," Harriet glared.

"... I'll give him anything ... I'm put ... I'm ..."

"..." said Harriet stiff...

"... I'll never give in to Maudie," ... adored.

Luke's Cabin

... ran out of the room. That ... faithfully she did not in... but she moved over the ... astonishing... The lounge was empty. The ... of the dining saloon were ... the sound of ... pro... from. Two stewards were ... tables for breakfast under ... of Mr. Tunnicliff, who ... a bow in which were mingled ... and a nice regard for the ... of his superseded and suffer... Ratner, the deck steward, ... seated on a chair in the ... and taking a cigaret from a packet.

... professional prestidigitator ... caused a solid object to ... more quickly than Ratner hid ... packet, and no acrobat ... have used more agility than ... used in springing from the ... and no sergeant major could ... more disciplinary than ... Tunnicliff looked as his eyes ... Ratner thus trapped in ... delinquency. For Harriet ... established her authority.

"D... know where Mr. Tunnicliff ...?" asked her agreeable tone ... that officially she had seen ... wrong.

"... know, I'm sure, miss," said ... earnestly. "He's most likely ... in."

"Where is his cabin?"

... Harriet had established ... she had not yet com... the complex geo... ship.

"... you, miss."

... led the way out on to the ... a secondary stairway, and along a corridor and ... a door at the end.

"No. 5, there, miss."

"Thank you."

Harriet stood hesitating ... door of No. 5. Then she knocked. Then, getting no answer, she ... turned the handle ... it and ... A ... she saw the honorable Luke ... his domestic interior.

It was remarkably different from that of his cousin the ... ter. As ... No picture cut from La Vie Parisienne. No pictures at all save a photograph of a middle-aged lady. Very few books. Indeed no books except a Spanish grammar and a copy of a work by Blasco Ibanez. On one side ... the bunk (of which the bed had been made). Under the bunk ... drawers. On the other side ... with a typewriting machine and telephone and an assorted supply of stationery in a rack. The telephone was hung on the wall immediately over the desk. In one corner a lavatory basin with towels ... folded on a different kind of rack. One easy chair and one deck chair. Harriet instantly loved the interior, which gave her a feeling of security and tranquility. Still, perhaps she would have preferred just some little symptom somewhere of untidiness, for the perfect man ought surely not to be perfectly tidy.

The honorable Luke was lounging in the easy-chair, his head averted, his eyes shaded from the world by his left hand. He looked up and saw that the invader was Harriet.

"Go away," he adjured her, and gave a tired scowl.

Harriet obeyed him by slipping in and shutting the door. A still bolder action, she thought! He said nothing for a moment, but glanced out through the thickly glazed porthole. The sea was rushing past the little circle at a tremendous rate, and every now and then it curved upward and the stout glass was covered with solid water. Somewhat stuffy in the cabin! Harriet perched herself on the bunk, which was so high that her short-skirted legs had to dangle, and did dangle.

"Go away, I tell you," the honorable Luke repeated—one might say savagely.

"All right." Harriet soothed the dejected savage, and tattooed with her heels against the mahogany fronts of the drawers. Never had she felt happier or more angelical than she felt then.

The honorable Luke suddenly fronted her.

"I don't need anybody to come here and tell me I've made a fool of myself," he said gloomily. "But I ... and my nerves were a ... besides——" He stopped.

"So were the panjandrum's nerves all gone, and he's an older man than you ... you are 'besides.' Besides wh..."

"The fellow has no right to speak to anyone like that, and I won't stand it."

"..." Harriet argued. "I was a bit ... for him when ... he was disturbed by a servant, wasn't it? It showed you knew there was ... about."

"So I did know."

"Of course you did ... but not ..."

"I don't care. I know I'm ... I know I shall never get another place. He'll never give me a cha... And my people will never forgive me for taking this place."

"Who's that?" Harriet asked, pointing to the photograph.

"That's my mother."

"And she won't forgive you? A woman with a face like that couldn't not forgive you anything. So you needn't pretend."

Although the honorable Luke was in the easy chair and Harriet was on the bunk, their heads were not more than a couple of feet apart. Harriet leaned forward and smiled. She felt that she was more angelic than any angel could be.

"Luke," said she. "You never did a finer thing. And what you did you did perfectly. It couldn't possibly have been better. It was worth being ruined for."

"Do you think so?"

"I was so proud of you I had to run out and come and tell you how proud I was. I bet by this time the whole ship knows I'm in here. Not that I care!"

"I say," said Luke, with an air of discovery. "You're an angel."

"How true," thought Harriet. She said aloud: "Stuff!" Then she thought: "Why am I here with this young man with no prospects and not a cent of his own? But I was forgetting. He has prospects or I'll never speak to the panjandrum again. Only he ought to be eight or 10 years older than me, and he's a year younger. And he's so much shorter. He'll never be able to thrash me, and I should like to be thrashed, just once. Ah! I've known him hardly a week. It's all wrong. No, it isn't. It's all absolutely right. Especially as he's certainly got a dickens of a temper. If ever there was a blooming child on this earth I'm in the middle of one now at this minute."

A Proper Kiss

Luke leaned forward and raised his face and his arms.

"It's his eyes," Harriet thought. "It's his eyes when they're sad. Now I shall know what he really means by a proper kiss."

She was correct in her vision of the future. She did immediately learn what the honorable Luke really meant by a proper kiss. And she was well satisfied with his meaning. Precisely how the wonderful thing happened she could not have said, nor could he. But into the thing was his arms round her neck, his lips on hers, hers on his. Idyl! He loved her. She sat upright again, smiling. He stood, not smiling.

"Is it true?" he murmured doubtfully.

She nodded and laughed.

"But I've nothing to offer you!"

"Yes, you have," she said. "Everything."

"But I can't keep you. I shan't ever be able to keep you."

"Yes, you will," she reassured him, the angel once more. "The panjandrum's all right. He's sorry. He'll give you another job—a much better one."

"But I won't take it," Luke cried. "Nothing would induce me—"

"Well," she said calmly. "We'll see. We'll see."

The telephone gave a little twinkle. But their heads were together again and Luke was stroking Harriet's hair. The telephone gave another tinkle * * * And a third.

"Is that the panjandrum?" Harriet asked.

"What if it is? Let him go to the ..."

A minute later steps were heard outside and a deep voice. The fortress was endangered. The honorable Luke jumped up to defend it and decided that he could more effectively do so from outside. He dashed into the corridor, and banged the door behind him.

The baron was in the corridor. The baron had actually come to seek his unresponding serf. Luke clenched his fists.

"I say, Luke, my lad," said the baron, with a self-conscious laugh. "It's all right. I'll apologize to you ... and then you can ... well apologize to me afterward. But I'm bound to tell you you aren't cut out to be a private secretary—at any rate not mine. I'll find you a job in London—something worth having."

And the baron hurried off as though he had committed a crime.

Why some children are peevish.

Happy disposition easily recovered.

Some children are liable to get bilious and irritable, just as grown-ups often do. It is easily remedied. Simply give a dose of "California Fig Syrup" and in a few hours the bowels will move, the liver will be relieved and all pent-up bile and sour constipated waste removed, leaving the system clean and sweet and the child bright and energetic again.

California Fig Syrup banishes biliousness and constipation, regulates the bowels and insures pure blood, a clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and aids sturdy growth.

To get the genuine California Fig Syrup, endorsed by physicians for 50 years, look for the name "California" on the package. Adv.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

TUESDAY morning. Chillish but not cold. I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and looked at what was left of my face in the piece of looking glass I have got nailed on my wall, and then I put on my short britches and everything and went downstairs to do all the work that has to be done so the grownups can get up and not have anything to do. When I was milking the cow and her dotter and we were all in the barn together we talked about Podgeen and we were all glad he was what the teacher said he was and which meant getting well.

When we had all set down and et what I hadn't swiped for Jubilee, and I had made my ant ... off my hat so I could go to school I was just going out when my grandfather said to my father, One more week of this kind of weather and I will hav to go fishing or bust my gallbladder, and my father said to him that he had better find something else to lie about til the weather got more settled. My grandfather said March had come in like a lion and it would go out like a lamb and that summer was as good as here, but my father said he had seen it come in like a lion and go out like a blizzard and my grandfather wasn't as young as he once was and if he caught cold it might knock him for a row of pulled barrels. My grandfather said he might be old but he is tough, and I thought of the time he fell on the red ink and thought he was dying and I said, "You have not been afraid to live and you are not afraid to die, are you grandpa?" which was what he said for me to tell my mother when he thought he was dying. He looked at me and made out like he was mad and flung a pancake at me that just missed me. My mother said she despaired of ever being able to teach her children any table manners and my aunt said, Or anything else with some people around.

The flag was still flying at the hospital and I went in the office and asked if I might see Podgeen, and the lady recognized me and smiled at me and asked me if I wanted to see him about anything special, and I told her I thought it would do him good to get a slant at my face the way it looked now. So she said I might go up and peek through the door and tell him Howdy and come right away. So I went up and tippytoed down the hall with my hat in my hand and poked my face through the door and around the screen and Podgeen saw me and smiled and I said, This is the kind of a snoot I am going to put on you, Podgeen, when you get well, and a nurse heard him tell me where I could go and she came hurrying in from another room and I went. He is getting better all right. If she hadn't come in I would have told him I didn't want to go where he was going.

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Presides at a Council of War

IT was fully 20 minutes before I was able to rejoin the Underwoods. Mother Graham suffered a natural reaction of nerves when I finally got her into bed after her fright at the unknown marauder's attempt to get into Mary's room, and it required all my experience to get her quieted so that I was sure she would fall asleep. When she finally professed herself ready to let me go she put out a thin trembling hand and clutched mine.

"Mr. Underwood is very clever and kind," she faltered, "but he isn't our own. Promise me that you—"

Her voice died away but I pressed her hand warmly.

"I promise that no harm shall come to Mary," I said, with the sensation of making a vow, and her hand relaxed.

"I can sleep now," she said, and I stooped and kissed her with a constriction in my throat. ... me ... her ... own. Not always had my mother-in-law thus regarded me.

Lillian was alone in Mary's room when I went back, and something tense in her attitude told me that she was nervous and alarmed, although her face was composed and her voice even nonchalant.

"Harry has gone out to see what traces he can discover," she said. "He went directly after you left, so he ought to be back any minute."

But the minutes lengthened into another quarter of an hour before Mr. Underwood appeared. It was a tribute to his powers of moving noiselessly that we heard no sound of closing doors or even of his footsteps until he was at the door. Lillian remained almost motionless as he came in, but her eyes were suddenly starry with relieved gladness, and I realized that she had been numb with terror for him during his absence.

"The fellow came in through that wood road which leads to the chapel where ... cut last spring," Mr. Underwood said, and I felt suddenly cold at his reference to that time of sinister menace, that international plot against governments which had involved the Princess Olina and nearly ended Mr. Underwood's adventurous career. "I've had Jim out and we've traced his footprints—gee, if this keeps up I'm going to hire out as a movie sleuth!"

He wiped his forehead with a melodramatic flourish of his handkerchief and grinned at us as he spoke. But I had noticed the tiny beads upon his forehead and knew that the gesture was no theatrical one. He was distinctly uneasy at the thing which had come to us so suddenly.

"There'll be no more trouble tonight," he said. "Jim's going to stay awake the rest of the night, and so shall I. I wonder if Mary can tell us her version of the thing now."

"I'll see," I said promptly, and hurried down the hall to my room.

"Yes, she's all right," Katherine said when I had put the query. "Bring them in, but don't linger any longer than you have to, any of you."

I went back with my message and the Underwoods came quickly with me to Mary's bedside.

"We won't stay two minutes, Mrs. Underwood," assured Katherine. "I just want to ask Mary a question or two."

"Go ahead," Katherine said, and he turned to Mary, looking up at him from her pillows.

"What first drew your attention to the window?" he asked. "Was there any noise of anybody climbing up?"

Mary shook her head.

"No, the first thing I heard was the sound of scraping against the screen," she said. "I didn't know what it was at first, thought it was a rat or something. But when I looked toward it I could see a hand —and—a knife or shears or something cutting at the screen, and a face looking in the room just as if it were hung there in space."

She shuddered and Mr. Underwood put the next question quickly.

"Could you see the face? Would you know it again? There was a light in Lillian's room at the end—..."—which threw a ray right into your window."

"Yes, I know," Mary said. "I ... got his face, so I'd know it again anywhere."

"What was it like, Mary?" Lillian asked, and I knew that imperceptibly her husband had signaled her to take up the inquiry.

"It was a terrible face," Mary said, "like a rat's, a low forehead with sandy hair partly gray all tumbled over it, and a scar like a comma across the cheek."

"Just one thing more, Mary," Mr. Underwood said, and I knew that her answer had satisfied him.

"Did you scream before you got out of the room?"

COUNTING SHEEP NO AID TO SLEEP

Chicago, Ill.—That oft prescribed but old fashioned remedy for the loss of sleep—counting sheep—has [illegible] the acid test of experience. [illegible] belief shattered [illegible] A. Singler, [illegible] West [illegible], Ill. "No matter how many sheep I counted, sleep failed to come," Mr. Singler relates, [illegible] Mr. Singler recounts his discovery.

[illegible] Dr. Paul Dubois says [illegible]

[illegible] baby came. [illegible] the night when the baby woke up [illegible] even after all was quiet. [illegible] the matter of sleep [illegible] tried counting sheep [illegible] failed alike.

The Cause of the Trouble

[illegible] my trouble was physical. Could it be that [illegible] experienced difficulty in getting back to sleep. No more wakeful hours [illegible] counting of sheep. The 30-day test of Postum has become a lifetime habit. For that preliminary test proved that from the standpoint of health, happiness and efficiency, it would be sheer folly for me not to trade Postum for any other mealtime drink.

"A Lifetime Habit!"

Thousands—yes, millions—have done just what Mr. Singler did. They have tried Postum for thirty days in place of caffein beverages—and have become Postum users for life!

You owe it to your health, happiness and efficiency to make this test. Give up caffein for just thirty days—drink Postum with your meals instead. See what a wonderful difference this simple change can make in the way you sleep, in the way you feel—in your whole attitude toward life and work! You, too, will find it sheer folly to go back to harmful drinks.

You see, Postum contains no caffein or harmful drugs of any kind. Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran. Nothing in it to repel sleep, to fray nerves, to affect digestion. You'll like Postum's flavor, too—a rich, full-bodied flavor that millions prefer!

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both cost less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order today—start your 30-day test!

PROOF OF DYES is in the dyeing!

Words won't dye a dress, or coat, or sweater. It takes real anilines to do that. That's why Diamond Dyes contain from three to five times more anilines than any other dye—by actual test.

It's the anilines in Diamond Dyes that do the work, that give the colors such brilliance, such depth and permanence. It's real aniline that keeps them from giving things that re-dyed look, from spotting or streaking.

Next time you have dyeing to do try Diamond Dyes. Then compare results. See how soft, bright, new looking the colors are. Observe how they keep their brilliance. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this: The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

[illegible] two [illegible] snacks [illegible] fulls [illegible] with [illegible] shape [illegible] from [illegible] and [illegible] rounding [illegible] Marion [illegible] known [illegible] as he turn [illegible]

[illegible] Mr [illegible] caused [illegible] there [illegible] with the three [illegible]

Witness Transformation

I was [illegible] realize the darkness that [illegible] residents [illegible] the [illegible] Marion [illegible] beautiful [illegible] has traveled [illegible] the full meaning of the [illegible] yesterday he will [illegible] birthday anniversary at his [illegible] Park [illegible] to [illegible] take place [illegible] from a backwoods village

Has Good Word for Modern Youth and Approves Present Day Style of Dress

[illegible] the writer asked [illegible] Mr [illegible] The Star [illegible]

[illegible] he said

[illegible] to make a trip [illegible] where he [illegible] several week

Few Specialists Then

[illegible] His [illegible] makes [illegible] feeling today

[illegible] of Marion was filled with many [illegible] especially [illegible] the more recent generation

The town [illegible] that time [illegible] said [illegible] of one [illegible] wall [illegible] was [illegible] Main st In front of [illegible] called [illegible] walks [illegible] than the [illegible] streets

Not many streets were [illegible] then Center and Main street were the only ones [illegible] identity through the year Other were known as South North East and West streets

Mr R [illegible] was born in a frame building at the corner of what now known as [illegible] and Main st Then it was outside the corporation limit He started to attend school in the old structure now a part of the Central Junior building on West Center st His father Phillip [illegible] helped make the brick that went into the building [illegible]

1881 Enumeration

In 1881 Mr [illegible] aided in taking a school enumeration of Marion and the population of that time numbered a little more than [illegible]

The first major manufacturing concern was started in the city in the seventies when the Huber Co [illegible] with farm and road equipment included in its line Later as an employe of this company Mr [illegible] helped make the first steam shovel manufactured in Marion Through the ensuing years other concerns located here and with their coming Marion's boom started

The tide of the conversation then turned to some of the more modern subjects like morals of the young folk prohibition and women's dresses

After having spent several years in listening to addresses in which the so-called orators were attacking the trend taken by modern youth the writer was anxious to obtain the opinion of this man who through his [illegible] years of residence in Marion witnessed the slowly changing moral standards set up by youth in quest of pleasure His answer was surprising

Modern Speed

"[illegible] people of today," he said, "are not any worse [illegible] those of yesterday The only difference is that this is a faster time"

[illegible] he continued in referring to activities and the pleasures of [illegible] "all things that the young folks of today would be scared to death to do And the reverse is just as true"

Long skirt trailing in the mud and slime of the streets gathering all the germs Hoop skirts that crowded every one off the sidewalks Corsets laced so tight that women looked like [illegible] walking down the street That is the way he defined the dress of the moderns He said that women dress far more healthful and sanitary today than they did 60 years ago

And there's that subject of prohibition a problem that is occupying the attention of the nation Mr [illegible] is in favor of it because he believes it to be a success It is true he pointed out that drinking is still a popular pastime But according to his observations made from the time saloons were the loafing places to the present day there is no more drinking now than there was before the prohibition law went into effect He believes the [illegible] is not as great

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.
LUCKY STRIKE "IT'S TOASTED" CIGARETTES

Fannie Ward
Famous for Her Ever-Youthful Appearance.

"'Reach for a Lucky and not for a sweet.' That's been my policy ever since Luckies started—my way of retaining the figure I need to be known as the ever-youthful Fannie Ward. So I say to you women who want to cheat time as I have done, 'Reach for a Lucky and not for a sweet.'"

FANNIE WARD

THE modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

FEDERAL POLICE FOR U. S. BORDER LOOMS

May Be Outgrowth of Hoover's Impending Investigation of Prohibition

WASHINGTON, March 12 — A federal constabulary, similar to the Texas rangers or the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, to be charged with border enforcement of all laws appeared today to be one likely outgrowth of President Hoover's investigation of the wide-spread law violations.

As conceived by its sponsors — and they are both in and out of congress — this constabulary specifically would be charged with enforcing the prohibition, immigration and customs laws along the Canadian and Mexican borders.

The chief argument in favor of creation of such a force is the present confusion and overlapping which has resulted from the efforts of three distinct branches of the government to stem the tide of liquor, aliens and contraband which seeps into the states from the north and south.

Organization of a united border patrol would not mean the abolition of the prohibition, immigration and customs forces now at work, according to the plan which has been broached. They would continue to operate, although probably in a lesser degree, but leave the larger part of actual enforcement to the constabulary.

Representative Hudson, Republican, of Michigan has a bill drawn up which would meet this purpose. It has lain in committee now for over a year without action. But Hoover's stand for rigid enforcement, plus the expected activities of the fact finding commission he is about to appoint, is expected to bring the measure up for a vote at the next regular session of congress.

Segrave Sets Amazing Speed Record of 231.36 Miles An Hour On Beach

Lee Bible, American, Will Attempt To Beat Mark in "The Triplex"

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 12—America is going after the world's automobile speed record this afternoon.

Beach and weather conditions permitting, Lee Bible

MR. AND MRS. SEGRAVE

of Daytona Beach will take the wheel of the former world champion American car, "The Triplex" and shoot across the great speedway here in an attempt to break the amazing record of 231.36 miles an hour established yesterday by Maj. H. O. D. Segrave of England, in his powerful, torpedo-shaped "Golden Arrow."

Segrave's new record surpassed by 23.81 miles per hour the mark set on the sands of Daytona Beach last year by Ray Keech of Philadelphia who drove "The Triplex," a ponderous, [illegible] powered car at 207.55 miles an hour.

The tall [illegible], prematurely bald [illegible] with the light blue eyes and [illegible] cheeks announced however, that he is "through" with high pressure racing unless "The Triplex" should set a higher mark.

Low tide this afternoon is at 1:22 and if beach conditions then are favorable, Bible will drive "The Triplex" down the long sandy stretch beach. The consensus among race experts was that the American has a job cut out for himself in trying to break the remarkable record of 231.36 miles an hour set by the Englishman.

Solitary Confinement for Four Who Escaped Pen May Last Month

COLUMBUS, March 12—Twenty-one days after they sawed their way to a short-lived freedom from the Ohio State penitentiary here, Pat McDermott, "kid-gunman," and "trigger-man" in the Don Mellett murder, and his three convict-pals were still in the "black-hole" at the institution here today.

Five prisoners went over the walls on Feb. 19. They were Pat McDermott, James Walton, Joe Russo, Mike Jacko and William Young. Three of them, McDermott, Jacko and Young were serving life terms. All of these were recaptured. Russo also was taken into custody.

Walton still is at large and is believed to be hiding-out somewhere in West Virginia or Kentucky.

When the four were retaken, they were placed in solitary confinement and their enforced stay there will probably last a month, according to prison officials.

Bread and water is the menu for these convicts, except every third day when they are allowed the regular prison fare.

THE WEATHER

Cloudy, probably occasional rain tonight and Wednesday. Somewhat warmer tonight in west and south portions.

MISSING BOY FOUND

Grandfather of Lad Held at Catlettsburg, Ky., for Investigation

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., March 12—Authorities from Akron, Ohio, are expected here today to take charge of Jimmy Banks, the seven-year-old son of Claude Banks, of the Ohio city, for whom a search in four states had been made.

Jimmy disappeared from his home three weeks ago, and officers had looked for him in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

Oscar Lane of Pikeville, Ky., grandfather of the boy, and his son-in-law, J. D. Farmer, were taken into custody by Catlettsburg police, and were held for investigation, late last night, when the Akron lad was discovered here.

DEMAND REPAIRS

Council to Insist Upon Firm Fixing Faulty Curbing

Immediate demand will be made upon the H. P. Streicher Co., contractors of Toledo, for the repair of faulty curbing in Vernon Heights as a result of action taken last night at the meeting of city council. According to council members, of the cement curbing placed in the Vernon Heights addition is crumbling badly in many places.

The Toledo firm according to councilmen, has agreed to replace the faulty curbing but so far has failed to do so. Council determined to make an immediate demand upon the company when it was stated that previous requests for the repair of the curbing had been ignored.

Series of Glee Club

OPENING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Recitals To Be Given

BY MAC L. ROY

WITH the concert to be presented by the Columbia University Glee club in the Kolster Radio hour at 10 o'clock Wednesday night, a new series of glee club recitals will be inaugurated over stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System, including concerts from many of the leading universities of the United States. The first of these, by the Columbia University glee club, will automatically take the place of the concert of string music scheduled for that date.

The Columbia University Glee club is composed of college undergraduates, plus a few students from the graduate schools and teachers' college. Membership in this club is limited, and the men are selected only after a severe voice trial. Glee clubs that will appear in the near future during the hour include Northwestern university on March 27, Johns Hopkins on April 10, Brown or Yale university on April 24 and Ohio State university on May 1.

CHANGES ARRANGED BY BUSINESS FIRMS

Several Local Concerns Planning To Move into New Locations

Residents of Marion [illegible] the [illegible] district [illegible] next month will [illegible] learn [illegible] business [illegible] plans now under consideration [illegible] to effect.

At the present time [illegible] that the Postal Telegraph & Cable Co. will move from its present location on South State st. to [illegible] on East Center st. [illegible] by the Western Union Telegraph Co. The process of moving will take place this Saturday and Sunday, although the new equipment to be installed by the telegraph company will not be in use for possibly a month. This move leaves the South State st. room open and in the near future it is expected that the Roberts Kelvinator Co., now located at 127 South State st., will move into the Postal Telegraph Co. room.

This leaves the room at 127 South State st. open but only for about three weeks. By that time or possibly a little later it will be occupied by an optical store to be operated by Nelson Brothers, who are now in the process of vacating their present store on East Center st.

The room now occupied by Nelson Brothers will soon be taken over by Spauldings, who will operate a jewelry store.

The other change in location concerns a prominent Marion florist but this change is only tentatively considered at the present time.

PRISONER SHOT

Warden at Camp Sherman Refuses to Talk in Fatal Shooting

CHILLICOTHE, March 12—"I have nothing to say."

That was the only comment which A. E. McDonald, superintendent of the United States reformatory at Camp Sherman here, would make today concerning the fatal shooting of John Ross, Cleveland, a prisoner who attempted to escape with three other convicts Sunday night.

A report has been made to the department of justice at Washington, which will make an investigation, according to advices which were received here today.

When his three companions saw Ross fall, they surrendered.

ees Air Mail Sent to urope in Dirigibles, anding on Postoffices

Congressman, Directing Aeronautical Legisla ... Suggest Higher Rates for Big Airships Car ... Mail, Urges Country Prepare for Future

[illegible] March 12—Air [illegible] has service [illegible] be the mail service [illegible] declared today [illegible]

Need Higher Rate

[illegible] congressman [illegible] Atlantic and [illegible] he said [illegible] pound. Some airships such as the Zeppelin could carry 10 tons of mail.

Prepare for Future

While this is not a pressing problem I believe legislation should be enacted to prepare us for developments which are certain to come.

We must enact legislation soon [illegible] mail on [illegible] service [illegible] mail on trains. The problem is already upon us.

Air mail planes now are loaded to capacity. The mail must be distributed at landing fields causing delay. Distribution aboard planes would save much time.

When the problem of vertical landing is solved we must prepare to provide landing fields on top of buildings and on railroad terminals. The greatest delay faced in the air mail service now is in getting mail from the landing field into the city postoffice.

SNYDER AND MALONE WILL SHOW HERE ON MONDAY NIGHT

Wildcat Auskings, Johnnie Skrapp Meet in Eight-Round Main Go

By KARL B McELROY

LOCAL talent will be [illegible] in the Marion ring next Monday night featuring the [illegible] round [illegible] fistic flower artists being offered by the Marion Eagles in their hall on West Center st

Ray Snyder and Wildcat Malone who have been more or less [illegible] this year as far as local boxing cards are concerned have been signed by [illegible] promoters to appear in eight and six round bouts respectively

Wildcat Auskings the Mt Vernon assassin gone wrong will be back in the main go this time matched with Johnnie Skrapp of Cleveland over the eight round route at 1[illegible] pounds Auskings fought last week and the injured hand which handicapped him in his last appearance in Marion has completely healed In view of the fact that both fighters will be evenly matched as far as weight is concerned he is expected to give Marion fans a real demonstration of his fistic abilities

Ray Snyder Marion's most promising dealer in fisticuffs who has given up the water bucket for the ring will be the semi final feature He is slated to fight Johnnie Sheldon of Cleveland in a battle scheduled to go eight rounds at 142 pounds Snyder has been keeping in condition with a few minor bouts throughout this section He is reported in tip top shape for his return to the local ring

Babe Auskings another Mt Vernon product who made quite a hit with fans here last week with his fast exhibition of boxing holds no little amount of the limelight in Monday night's card He has been signed to meet Charles Starr of Cleveland in the second preliminary for six rounds at 127 pounds

Wildcat Malone of Marion and Jack Stewart of Cleveland are the boys who will open the main section of the fight show The fight is to go six rounds at 148 pounds and will be the first preliminary

Two local boys will tangle in the four round curtain raiser completing the bill Four Marion fighters and a like number from Cleveland stage the card The two Auskings are from Mt Vernon

The advance sale of reserve seats has started with a heavy demand for the pasteboards The first fight on the card will get under way at [illegible] o clock

The SPORT-O-GRAPH

BY FRANK G MENKE

JACK DEMPSEY as a promoter [illegible] something on the newspaper gentry in the Battle of Miami that still has the architects of sporting items hanging on the ropes and gasping in their gratitude

He showed to each who drifted in to Miami the courtesy that belongs only to an honored guest and the things he did and the way he performed them was so refreshingly different than the treatment ever accorded by promoters that the lads are still in half swoons and not sure it really happened

Although the ballyhoo performed by the writers has been the VITAL factor in the success of every historic promotion in the last 15 years the promoters in the main have never shown any real gratitude toward the writers as a mass So far as the extension of courtesies was concerned—well that was practically nil Even in the matter of ticket distribution the promoters—and that includes Tex Rickard—were tighter than the roof of a bass drum

WHEN I started parking in Miami in mid January just about the first thing Dempsey said was I agreed to take this job only upon condition that I would be allowed plenty of expenses to see that every newspaper man whether he is a star or just a cub, would be taken care of The newspaper fellows made me Many are my pals But whether the fellows that arrive are my friends or my enemies they all will get exactly the same deal ' And then he added

There won t be any bunk or hokum about this show If the receipts go to $100,000 that s what I ll tell the boys There will not be any doubling or tripling of actual figures I ll give it all to them straight and honest whether it helps the fight or hurts it No man ever held more rigidly to both resolves than did Jack Dempsey He delegated to three assistants the job of making arriving newspaper men comfortable If they had no hotel reservations he secured rooms at the hostelries for them—and at minimum rates He established headquarters for them at the Kennel Club and also at one of the hotels

ANYTHING they wanted to eat or use for throat quenching purposes was theirs for the asking He secured for them guest cards to golf clubs night clubs dog tracks race tracks and everywhere else entertainment was offered In contingencies he provided buses and automobiles

If they had any troubles or grief Dempsey dropped all that he was doing to extricate them And although there were a few among the group who rapped the show and razzed him as a promoter and then strangely accepted his hospitality at luncheons and dinners he treated them with the same courtesy as he did the reporters who have been his friends for years

One writer fresh from college and during to make his reputation as a caustic wit never lost a chance to call the fight a flop and to razz Dempsey After which the extraordinary youth always was present and voting whenever Dempsey invited the newspaper group to some little shindig When comment was made about it to Dempsey his only answer was

That guy was born that way He can t help it So he s all okay

WHEN Dempsey learned that the requests for working press seats exceeded the original specifications for the press box he ordered the box made larger even though it meant reducing the number of $25 seats

Dempsey went further than that He granted all requests from newspaper men for complimentary seats in the arena for which they wanted for their friends or associates who were not actually covering the fight And then he set aside a section in the stadium for the wives of newspaper men who could not sit with their husbands because women are barred from the working press box

Nothing like that ever has happened before In fact nothing like Dempsey s thoughtfulness concerning the newspaper folks ever happened before

UNTIL Dempsey became a promoter the reporters were accustomed to being ignored in the matter of courtesy and practically forced to battle to get seats to meet their actual needs for covering a battle

As a climax Dempsey announced to the newspaper delegation

Just hired a special train Leaves Miami Saturday night after the fight headed for New York Any of you newspaper men that want to get aboard can just climb on It s all free kids—and that invitation goes for any of you that have your wives with you on this trip

Is it any wonder that the reportorial delegation finds itself groggy over the wallop of Dempsey s extraordinary courtesy and hospitality?

RULES ANNOUNCED FOR AMATEUR CAGE MEET HERE BY "Y"

Teams Placed in Three Classes, Tourney Run by F O Rudolph

BY BOB ELLIOTT

MARION County s annual amateur basketball tournament sponsored by the Marion Y M C A will swing into action Thursday night March 21 at the Y gym with both Class A and B teams playing Class C will get started Saturday afternoon March 2[illegible] Games will be played in rotation at the number of games required but Thursday night March 28 has been set as the definite date for the finals in all three classes

Entries can be mailed to F O Rudolph at the Marion Y M C A The entry fees are $5 a team for class A $3 a team for class B $1 a team for class C Entry fees must accompany the entry blank a copy of which is published on this page Age limits are class C under 15 years class B 15 17 years class A 18 years and over The only exception to the age limits is that all high school varsity players must compete in class A regardless of ages

All classes of the tourney are open to all amateur teams of the county which have played at least three games under the name of that team prior to the date of the tourney Mr Rudolph insists that it be understood that officials of the tournament do not invite pickup teams as entries in the tourney It was for this reason that the rule requiring all teams to have played three games was adopted

Entries for the tourney close Monday night March 18 at 7 30 o clock At 8 o clock Monday night there will be a meeting of the managers of all the teams competing in the tourney This meeting will be the last time that managers of teams will have an opportunity to protest a player on another team Outside of age limits the only question that a player can be barred on is whether or not he conforms to all the rules of an amateur The definition of an amateur is as follows Any one who has not knowingly competed for money in an athletic event of any description

No player can compete on two teams and if a player s name is entered by two teams the choice will rest upon the player himself Each team may enter eight players in addition to one manager or coach

MAY CANCEL DEAL

CLEARWATER Fla, March 12—If Glenn Wright has a dead arm Manager Wilbert Robinson declares he will try to cancel the deal which brought the shortstop to Brooklyn in exchange for Pitcher Jess Petty Bonesetter Ferguson who is treating Wright in Miami advised Robinson that the shortstop would be out of the game for two weeks at least

CUBS SEA SICK

AVALON, Cal March 12—The Cubs are poor sailors Practically the whole team was recovering today from sea sickness which overtook the players during the stormy 26 mile trip from the mainland As a result Manager McCarthy was forced to call off yesterday s practice session They were scheduled to get back in harness today

TWO REMAIN UNSIGNED

TAMPA Fla March 12—Two of the most prominent members of the Nationals squad are still unsigned and are bickering with Clark Griffith over salary differences—'Goose' Goslin the Nats premier slugger and 'Sad Sam' Jones, the clubs leading pitcher last year

TO SIGN BABE

Yanks To Cut Salary in 1930 Contract For Ruth

NEW YORK March 12—Babe Ruth will be tendered a 1930 contract calling for somewhat less than the $70,000 he has [illegible] in his salary heretofore He will be tendered a contract for one year only with no option of renewal He will be asked to refrain from playing the film racket either during the season or before it, for reasons which will be more obvious in a matter of about 10 seconds flat Ruth had a bad case of Klieg eyes the last time he went for the movie business in a big way

That this is the program being entertained for Ruth s benefit by the New York club is vouched for on rather good authority today

FONSECA HOLDS DOWN FIRST FOR CLEVELAND

NEW ORLEANS March 12—With Johnny Hodapp first baseman for the Cleveland Indians still holding out Lew Fonseca held down the initial sack in an infield drill yesterday The rest of the infield consisted of Lind at second Tavener at shortstop and Joe Sewell at third Dick Porter former heavy hitting International league star bought up by the Indians this season clouted two over the wall in batting practice yesterday

ROUSH TERRY ARRIVE

SAN ANTONIO Tex March 12—Outfielder Ed Roush and first baseman Bill Terry whose arrival at training camp here completed the roster of the New York Giants were to take their first workout with the team today

REDS TO DEPEND ON PITCHING THIS YEAR

BY JAMES L KILGALLEN

ORLANDO Fla Mar 12—Jack Hendricks silver haired manager of the Cincinnati Reds said in an interview that if [illegible] Donohue is himself this year the Red Legs will be a first rate [illegible] in the pennant chase He thinks the Cardinals beat his team out of the flag last season and he likes their chances of winning the 1929 bunting

He believes the Chicago Cubs will be the team he will have to beat to win the pennant He said the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates are sure to be dangerous contenders but he does not think so much of St Louis last year s pennant winners

I am still experimenting said Hendricks but I expect to line my infield up in this manner Val Picinich will do the bulk of catching George Kelly will play first base Hughey Critz second Horace Ford shortstop and Chuck Dressen third base I will not carry two high salaried first base men this year Pipp has been released and he signed up with Newark in the International league

I like my infield That second base combination is great We made the record of 194 double plays last year

My outfield is a puzzle I probably will start Curt Walker in right Ethan Allen in center and Everett Purdy in left I have other good outfield material in Shaner Callaghan Zitzmann Crabtree Hill and Swanson Any one of these youngsters may come through in a big way Swanson and Crabtree look very good

Hendricks said that Dressen whom he is banking on for third base is a holdout If however Dressen fails to sign up Jack declared he has a first class man to fill that post in Walter Lutzke who played that position for five years with the Cleveland Indians

I always seem to have a great pitching staff and I think I will have a grand array of flingers this year My big four will be Luque Lucas Kolp and Rixey And if Donohue is right and I think he will be I will have five great pitchers Donohue suffered a severe attack of [illegible] last year and wasn t himself If Donohue comes through we will make it awfully tough for every club in the race

BREAKS ARE GIVEN CLASS A FAVORITES

Stivers and Dover Draw Easy Team in State Tournament

FRIDAY S SCHEDULE

Class 'A'

3 00 p m—Dayton Stivers vs Akron Garfield

4 00 p m—Columbus Central vs Bowling Green

9 00 p m—Portsmouth vs Canton McKinley

10 00 p m—Dover vs Lima St Rose

Class B

1 00 p m—Westchester vs Bluffton

2 00 p m — Pomeroy vs Youngstown Boardman

7 00 p m—Marysville vs Akron St Marys

8 00 p m — Macksburg (Washington County) vs Sryker

Getting the breaks of the game doesn t always go to the favorite but in the state high school basketball tournament to be held in Columbus Friday and Saturday the favorites have the break As a result of the drawings yesterday which took place in Gov Myers Y Cooper s office under the supervision of H R Townsend commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic association the two favorites of the tourney Dayton Stivers and Dover high schools received the edge

In yesterday s drawings the governor first drew the name of Stivers and then that of Akron Garfield These two teams will play the first game in Class A bracket Friday afternoon

CENTRAL CHRISTIANS MAKE LAST STAND FOR TITLE TONIGHT

Must Beat Trinity Baptist To Even Up Championship Series

"TO be or not to be" is the question that is facing the Central Christian Sunday school basketball team as it makes its last stand tonight at the Y M C A in the second of the three game series being played between Central and Trinity Baptist for Class A Sunday school championship of the city The Baptists took the edge in the series by copping the first game last Thursday night 29 to 25 If they [illegible] tonight it s all over with Christian victory will make a third game necessary

Depending largely whether H Applegate will be able to take his place at the tipoff post the Baptists rest their chance for tonight s game With Applegate in the lineup the Baptists look like a championship five while without him they are just another team With Applegate in the lineup the odds are even with the Baptists and without Christians will rate the big end of the count

It is undeniable that the Christian quintet was way off on its shooting last week in the first game of the series and it is only natural to suppose they will be back in form after a week of rest they have enjoyed Last week Gillis was held to a free throw and Geissler made three two pointers [illegible] Merchant the [illegible] and will [illegible] watching as the first half [illegible]

Both teams are holding out for victory in the game tonight which will get under way at 8 o clock The teams will probably start the following lineups

Christians	Pos	[illegible]
Ward	f	[illegible]
Geissler	f	[illegible]
Gillis	[illegible]	[illegible]
Suzel	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kinnert	[illegible]	[illegible]

Money Rules at Seven Per Cent, Helping Out Bulls

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, March 12—Industrial stocks shifted around in bewildering fashion on the big board today as successive buying and selling waves broke over the market. The big bears fought the advance in the first hour or two, and if they did nothing more they at least prevented the bull steam roller from advancing full steam into higher price territory. The bulls took control in the early afternoon and whipped up prices of their favorites a point or two above yesterday's ragged close.

NEW YORK, March 12—Small recoveries in the copper, steel and specialty stocks were recorded in the first hour today, mostly as the result of short covering by the Wall Street professionals.

Though the copper stocks started the day at a lower price range, they were the first to show a sharp recovery. Large producers of copper are holding out for 20 cents a pound for July domestic shipments, and it was expected that that price would be adopted in the trade as a whole. Anaconda which opened at 130½, rallied quickly to 134½ and Kennecott rose two points to 97½.

The seven per cent renewal money rate was the lowest in a month, and reflected the accumulation of money for the federal income tax payments.

United States Steel recovered nearly two points at the opening of the market, and the stock was in demand around 182½. Republic Iron and Steel, Vanadium and Bethlehem recovered about a point on the average.

U. S. Bonds

NEW YORK, March 12—Opening Liberty bond quotations: 3 1-2s 97.25, first 4 1-4s 98.26; fourth 4 1-4s 99.12; treas. 3 3-8s of 1940 95.1, treas. 3 3-4s 99 and treas 4s 101.5.

Coffee Market

NEW YORK, March 12—Raw coffee futures opened unchanged to six points higher today. March sold at 16.80, May 16.08, July 15.16, September 14.64 and December 14.29.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

Estate of Alfred Painter, Deceased

Notice is hereby given that John McNamara has been appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of Alfred Painter, late of Marion County, deceased

Dated at Marion, Ohio, this 9th day of March, A. D. 1929.

OSCAR GAST,
Probate Judge, Marion County, Ohio
By W. D. HAZEN,
Deputy Clerk.

LEGAL NOTICE

Charles E. Smith, whose place of residence is unknown and cannot be ascertained, will take notice that on the 23rd day of February, 1929, the defendant, The National City Bank & Trust Company filed its answer and cross petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, in the case of Sanford T. Smith, plaintiff, vs. Charles E. Smith, et al, defendants, same being Cause No. 20570 in said Court for the foreclosure of mortgage and sale of certain real estate in petition described.

Being Lot Number Seventy-three Hundred Thirty-three (7333) in East Lynne Addition to Marion, Ohio

Also, being the east forty (40) feet of Lot Number Seventy-three Hundred Ninety-eight (7398) in Helwig's First Addition to Marion, Ohio

Also, known as being forty (40) feet off of the east end of the following described premises.

Known as being a part of Lot Number Seventy-three Hundred Ninety-nine (7399) in Helwig's first Addition to Marion, Ohio, bounded and described as follows. Commencing at a point in the east line of Prospect Street where a line produced west from a point four (4) feet due south of the northwest corner of said lot 7399 will intersect the east line of Prospect Street, thence east on a line parallel with the north line of lot No. 7399, one hundred (100) feet to a stake, thence south easterly to the east line of said lot 7399 at a point thirty-eight (38) feet north of the southeast corner of said lot, thence south on the east line of said lot to the southeast corner thereof; thence west on the south line of said lot to the southwest corner thereof; thence northeasterly on the east line of Prospect Street to the place of beginning; subject however to the right of way or easement in the north three (3) feet thereof extending the entire east and west distance of said lot for sidewalk purposes.

The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of mortgage and sale of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said Charles E. Smith is required to answer said cross petition on the 20th day of April, 1929, or judgment will be take against him

THE NATIONAL CITY BANK & TRUST COMPANY.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

When the evening is a disagreeable one and there's nothing to do to relieve the seemingly endless monotony of waiting for spring nights—and mosquitoes—why not have a few ears of pop corn on the shelf to dispel the gloom that makes your best detective thriller seem lifeless. There isn't a member of the family that will not thoroughly enjoy sitting around the open fireplace listening to the merry crackle of the corn.

If this suggestion does not appeal perhaps a few apples held over the fireplace to eat with the pop-corn would appeal to many. To be sure, this method of passing an evening is a bit old-fashioned, but a baked apple still has the charm that it provided years ago, and furnishes a thoroughly enjoyable method of forgetting heavy rains and disagreeable winds.

With the price of apples hovering between five and ten cents a pound on Marion markets, an apple baked around the fireplace is no luxury. The most select fruit of your favorite variety may be obtained at this price, and the cost will be quite forgotten in this additional treat to the evening's fun.

Meat prices on the local market have taken an upward trend, between one and two cents a pound. Pork Callies took a two-cent jump from 17 cents to 19 cents. Pork chops range in price from 32 cents to 35 cents instead of the former 30 to 33 cents. Spareribs jumped from 15 cents to 17 cents and Callie hams rose a cent to 19.

Hothouse cucumbers will appeal to many, having been well stocked by local merchants. Home-grown potatoes dropped from 25 cents to 23 cents a peck today and new beets were selling for 10 cents a bunch in place of the former 5 cents a pound. The shopper may now purchase four pounds of bananas for 25 cents, a drop of four cents on the dozen.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 12—A price movement as erratic and mixed as the run of news which inspired it featured the local wheat market yesterday. After an early bulge, which looked for a time like a continuation of Saturday's upward trend, the market acted tired and declined under the influence of scattered selling on the increase in the visible supply and other depressing cash news. Corn prices ruled lower in a light local trade.

Wheat at the close showed net losses of ¼@¾c, while highs had been nearly a cent above Saturday's finish. Corn prices were ⅝@¾c down; oats ¼@⅜c lower, and rye ½c down. Winnipeg wheat futures were ⅝@1¼c lower at the close.

Cash Wheat Heavy

The wheat market's action yesterday appeared to be just another example of the opposition the present heavy cash situation affords to advancing prices. The same was true of corn. While sentiment continues mainly bullish in both markets, it is noticeable in wheat particularly that buying sufficient to maintain prices and create rallies results in substantial increases in the open interest. Saturday's sharp advance increased the open interest to 113,722,000 bu., a new high record.

Opening and early prices in wheat were lower due to Liverpool's failure to follow the local upturn of Saturday. The English market closed 3-8@5-8d higher. Broomhall attributes their weakness to the fact that very good quality of the heavy Argentine arrivals is making possible heavier deliveries on March contracts. Weekly movement figures were also bearish, with an increase of 3,543,000 bu on passage.

Corn Trade Local

Best prices for corn were made at the opening, and while the market rallied slightly in sympathy with the early upturn in wheat, prices failed to advance above the previous close. Trade continued largely local without aggressive action on either side. Scattered selling on bearish developments caused prices to drop away gradually as the session progressed.

As in wheat, Saturday's advance brought liberal offerings from outside markets. By the close bookings totaled 150,000 bu; including 80,000 bu from Kansas City; 50,000 bu from Milwaukee, and 20,000 bu from the country. Cash trade was not brisk and the basis was unchanged to ½c easier.

In the cash market wheat was steady; corn unchanged; oats steady; rye firm, barley steady.

Cars inspected were: Wheat, 55, corn, 251, oats, 49, rye 11; barley, 16.

Other changes in the United States visible supply for the week were: Oats decreased 227,000 bu; rye increased 191,000 bu; barley increased 67,000 bu.

Taking the 1928 accident figures, the risk of any given passenger on British railways being killed is in fact a 30,000,000 to one chance. In other words, an ordinary passenger making two journeys a day six days a week would have to travel for 50,000 years before meeting his chance of being killed.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE IN PARTITION

Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 20...
Emma Schwartz, Plaintiff,
vs.
Jacob M. Dietsch et al. Defendants

In pursuance of an Order of sale in partition issued from said Court to me directed in the above entitled action, I will expose to sale, at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Marion, Marion County, Ohio on Saturday, the 16th day of March, 1929, at 2 o'clock, P. M., the following described real estate situate in the County of Marion and State of Ohio, and in the township of Richland, to-wit:

The north half of the east half of the northeast quarter of section six (6), township six (6) south of range sixteen (16) in the district of land sold at Bucyrus, containing 17.55 acres be the same more or less. Also, the west half of the northeast quarter of said section six (6), township six (6), south of range sixteen (16) in the said district of lands subject to sale at Bucyrus, Ohio, excepting 40 acres off of the south end thereof. The lands that the said David Dietsch died seized of being 57.55 acres more or less, being the lands or real estate mentioned in Item third of the last will and testament of the said David Dietsch.

Said premises appraised at Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000.00) and cannot sell for less than two-thirds of the appraisement.

Terms of sale: Cash on day of sale.
